NATIONAL TENNIS RATING PROGRAM

The National Tennis Rating Program (NTRP) is designed to help players of similar skill levels find evenly matched opponents. Whether you're participating in matches, group lessons, leagues, or tournaments, this system ensures a more enjoyable and competitive experience.

In most cases, players can self-rate. To do this, review the criteria below while imagining yourself playing against someone of the same gender and skill. Once you find the level that best represents your abilities, make sure you also meet most of the criteria.
